

Weaver Bio:

Christine Weaver, MAS, OTR/L, CLCP, CBIS, C/NDT is the founder/CEO of NEUROPRAXIS. She is a life care planner and an occupational therapist with a Masters of Advanced Studies Degree in Health Law from the University of California - San Diego. She is a Certified Brain Injury Specialist (CBIS) and has been a certified life care planner by the International Commission on Health Care Certification (ICHCC) since 2004. She has been certified as an occupational therapist by the National Board for Certification in Occupational Therapy (NBCOT) since 1992 and the Board of Occupational Therapy in California (CBOT). The Neuro-developmental Treatment Association (NDTA) has certified Ms. Weaver as a Neuro-Developmental treatment therapist since 1993.

Christine Weaver has dedicated over 20 years to working in the field of brain injury in various settings such as the, trauma unit, intensive care unit, acute hospital, acute rehabilitation, out-patient and in home and community settings. She has an extensive clinical background with a strong knowledge of the best practices as well as extensive management level experience. Her experience included working for the pioneer in the post-acute brain injury rehabilitation in the country.